FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE | 11 AUGUST 2026

MUTE THERAPY CHANNEL THE SOUND OF THE NORTH ON "RAINDANCE"

Beatport exclusive 4 September 2026 • Full release 18 September 2026 • Phonypoly Music

North of England electronic trio Mute Therapy - Scott Lowe, Dan Rymer and Pino Tornese - return with "Raindance", a club-driven release landing via Phonypoly Music with a Beatport exclusive on 4 September 2026, followed by full DSP and store release on 18 September.

Moving between melodic techno, House and Breaks, "Raindance" pairs driving percussion with emotive melodic tension and late-night energy. Available as both a Radio Edit and Extended Mix, the record is built to work equally as a focused streaming cut and a DJ-friendly club weapon.

Ahead of release, "Raindance" has already received direct support and positive feedback from Hot Since 82, Franky Wah, Bad Boy Chiller Crew, Fergie, Ian Van Dahl and P.O.U. That momentum follows previous support for Mute Therapy from Franky Wah on Pete Tong's BBC Radio 1 show.

The trio's identity comes directly from their northern roots. Rather than committing to a single electronic sub-genre, Mute Therapy move freely between House, Techno and Breaks, favouring rhythm, atmosphere and impact over convention. "Raindance" captures that approach in a record designed for dark rooms, festival systems and the space between underground club music and melodic electronic listening.

"NO WORDS, JUST RHYTHM."

Mute Therapy is the sound of the North - distilled. Hailing from the North of England, the electronic trio blurs the lines between House, Techno and Breaks, crafting a sonic landscape that refuses to stay in one lane. With a raw, genre-fluid approach and recent tastemaker support, Mute Therapy is fast becoming an essential name in the UK underground.
